

Mancora and the Northwestern Biosphere Reserved

Beaches with the characteristics of the tropical sea are particularly attractive for those who enjoy hot weather, a crystalline sea, white sand and sun all around the year. The confluence of sea currents turn Peruvian sea into the best place for open sea fishing and exquisite food, the best waves for surfers in the Americas, and for sharing the relax and freedom experienced by the people in the area. Northern beaches are a very attractive tourist attraction still not discovered by conventional tourism. The best beaches include Máncora, Zorritos, Órganos, Cabo Blanco, Punta Sal, etc. Biodiversity is amazing in this area, beating records of endemism in birds and plants. The National Sanctuary Mangroves of Tumbes, the Reserved Area of Tumbes and the National Park of Cerros de Amotape altogether make up the Biosphere Reserved of Northwestern Peru, a wonderful variety of ecosystems to appreciate.

Suggested Itinerary

Day 1 | Lima-Tumbes-Zorritos

Transfer to Lima Airport and flight to the city Tumbes. Upon arrival, private transfer to the district of Villa Primavera. Arrival to "Puerto 25" and visit to the National Sanctuary. The visit is made in a rowboat. We will stop in a platform in the mangrove and make a guided walk about 50 meters to enjoy nature and environment. Return to the hotel in Zorritos just in front of this beautiful sea.

Day 2 | Zorritos – Reserve Zone -Tumbes

Breakfast early in the morning and transfer to the city of Tumbes in a 4x4 van. We will cross Pampas de Hospital to get to the Reserved Area of Tumbes, which has a Pacific Tropical Forest ecosystem. After arrival to Caucho, we will camp and have lunch. In the afternoon, walk along Quebrada de las Pavas. Dinner and fire lit.

Day 3 | Reserve Zone – Tumbes - Máncora

Early in the morning, before breakfast, walk along Quebrada la Unión, where the Howling Monkey of Tumbes is frequently seen. Breakfast and walk to the crystalline water pond where we will be able to enjoy nature. Lunch and optional bicycle ride to Pampas de Hospital. Transfer to Máncora.

Day 4 | Máncora

Free time to enjoy this wonderful beach or any other beaches, such as Punta Sal, Punta Mero, Cancas etc. We recommended different activities around the beach, such as Kite surfing, surfing, fishing and bird watching in the area and more.

Day 5 | Máncora – Organos

Transfer in private car to the Organos Beach. The rest of the day just relax in front of this beautiful beach.

Day 6 | Organos – Tumbes - Lima

Transfer to Tumbes airport. Flight to Lima. Final transfer. End of services.
